PacificSource Health Plans Names New Vice President of Information Systems (electronic photo included in distribution)

(Springfield, Ore.) – Erick Doolen has been named vice president of information systems at PacificSource Health Plans. A veteran of information system management, Doolen joins the executive team of the Oregon-based health insurer.

Throughout his career, Doolen has been involved in creation of information systems, and has managed system requirements, development, implementation and budgeting. Most recently, he served as Imaging and Printing Group Americas information technology director at Hewlett-Packard (HP) in Corvallis, Ore, where he's worked since 1994. Doolen earned his B.S. in electrical engineering and computer science from Washington University in St. Louis, Mo.

In his new position, Doolen will direct PacificSource's technology initiatives and oversee development and maintenance of the organization's network of computers, servers and telephone systems.
